Player’s Guide to College Hoops – the Who, What, When, Where, and How of Being Recruited

A perfect mix of practical guidelines and personal narratives

NASHVILLE, TN, USA, February 16, 2018

You’re a talented athlete with dreams of attending a great basketball school. Questions abound – and you not only need answers – you need a well thought out process and a proven plan.

Internationally recognized basketball standout Dee Davis answers common questions and more in Player’s Guide to College Hoops (127pp., tpb $21.99), a compilation of easy to understand strategies for up-and-coming players, plus words of wisdom and personal stories that detail her inspiring journey. Davis – recently inducted into the Southeastern Conference 2017 Class of Women's Legends – was drafted to the WNBA Houston Comets after graduating from Vanderbilt University. After leaving Houston, Davis would go on to play in training camps in Seattle and San Antonio, in addition to playing internationally in Sarajevo Bosnia.

Player’s Guide to College Hoops was developed to influence student-athletes’ post-secondary decisions and expose them to collegiate recruiting methodology. Davis gives insight into the intricacies of college sports, which can be overwhelming for young athletes. The process requires next-level-thinking and this guide provides just that for those athletes who want help deciding their next best move. Davis offers concrete guidance while opening her heart – keeping the ups and downs of her story out front for all to see. Timely tips from current college players also give clear insight to any aspiring athlete who has ever wondered about how the recruitment process really works.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Pokey Chatman, current WNBA General Manager and Indiana Fever Head Coach says “Dee has done a masterful job of providing invaluable insight to help navigate every aspect of the recruiting process! This book is a must-read for anyone looking to maximize the opportunities they’ve created.”

Basketball analyst LaChina Robinson says of Player’s Guide to College Hoops, “The timing of this book release couldn't be more perfect. High transfer rates in college athletics are forcing us to take a look at the decision making process to ensure that student-athletes are provided the necessary information and resources to make one of the most important decisions of their lives.”

Dan Hughes, WNBA Head Coach/GM and ESPN/Fox broadcaster, calls Player’s Guide a “must read” and says, “Dee tells it like it is. Her first book is informative, understandable, and nurturing. She is that mentor who helps you make a good decision and make that good decision work.”
